The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the local context in which a project is implemented. This includes a thorough understanding of the community's needs, values, and culture. It is essential to engage with the community from the very beginning, ensuring that their voices are heard and their input is valued. This process of community engagement is not a one-time event but a continuous process that evolves as the project progresses.

The second part of the paper explores the challenges of implementing a project in a resource-poor environment. Limited financial resources, lack of infrastructure, and limited access to services can all pose significant barriers to success. However, these challenges can be overcome through creative problem-solving and the use of local resources. For example, involving local people in the project can help to reduce costs and ensure that the project is more sustainable in the long run.

The third part of the paper discusses the importance of monitoring and evaluation. This involves setting clear objectives and indicators at the beginning of the project and then regularly measuring progress against these targets. This process allows project managers to identify problems early on and make adjustments as needed. It also provides a way to demonstrate the value of the project to stakeholders and secure ongoing support.

The final part of the paper discusses the importance of sustainability. A project that is not sustainable will eventually fail, so it is crucial to ensure that the project's benefits are maintained long after the project has ended. This can be achieved through a variety of means, including training local people in the skills and knowledge needed to maintain the project, establishing local committees to oversee the project, and creating a system of incentives to encourage continued participation.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.2 million (Office for National Statistics 1999). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 6.5 million by 2011, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 4.5 million (Office for National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of older people, and a number of initiatives have been developed to address this need. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people. The strategy is based on three main principles: (1) to ensure that older people have the opportunity to live independently and actively; (2) to ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need; and (3) to ensure that older people are treated with respect and dignity.

On the outskirts of the business district of Lowell, Indiana stands a weather worn building dedicated to the education of Lowell's teenagers. As more than 800 students finish the 1967 school year, they will look to the future. Lowell High is their key to the future.

Past alumni fondly remember the hours spent in their beloved alma mater and the many experiences the rural town offered them. Whatever career a student chooses to pursue, the key to it can be found beyond the doors at LHS. These doors are not always easy to open and the keys must truly be strong and a near perfect fit. This perfect fit comes only from diligence, perseverance and much hard work on the behalf of the student.

New departments and many changes in the school policy have made the 66-67 school year a year to remember.

Key to . . .

SCHOOL LIFE

The key which opens the door to our everyday school life at L.H.S. cannot be found in one special event. Each one of us holds our own key to the fun and good times that L.H.S. can offer. This key, like any other key, can become stuck in one position. But if we become a part of the high school events the key will be a perfect fit and behind it will lie endless good times for the ones who use the magical formula. This magical formula cannot be found in a mathematics or chemistry book, not even a cook book. It is the formula that you yourself concoct to help you transform into a true L.H.S.er. Many times it entails sweat, toil and a lot of tears, but if your key fits the by product is fun.

Big Sis—Little Sis Party Renewed

Under the supervision of Lana Clark and with the aid of her fellow classmates, the freshman and senior girls experienced their first Big Sister—Little Sister Party on September 13, 1966.

The purpose of the party was to acquaint the freshman and senior girls with one another and to give the freshman girls a taste of the good times high school has to offer.

This was the first such party given since 1962. The idea was renewed in the spring of 1966 by the senior girls.

The evening began when the freshman girls, dressed in their party dresses, met their big sisters, dressed in casual sport clothes. Then everyone sat back and enjoyed the entertainment presented by members of the senior class.

A good time was had by all concerned with the festivities.

The Lowell High School Homecoming of '66 can be announced as one of the "most successful" ever. Student participation was present throughout the week before the game, as well as that night when the Lowell Fighting Red Devils met the Lake Central Indians.

Starting off the traditional Homecoming Week with a bang was clash day. Everyone clashed. The greens clashed with the purples, prints with plaids, and every color imaginable was seen parading the halls. Solid color day was next on the agenda of the week's activities. It was quite a change to see solids instead of wild stripes and gave the student body a prim and proper look. Following solid color day was class sweater day in which the frosh, who hadn't purchased the sweaters yet, wore green. Dress-up day came to L.H.S. on Thursday. Everyone was not only in their best, but were on their best behavior. The boys sported jackets and ties and the girls extra special smiles. On Friday, school color day, school spirit was really at a peak. The night before, students had witnessed a parade with the "spirit" theme and the burning of a Dyer "Injun" in effigy. Emotions were high at the pep session Friday afternoon when the entire student body jostled to the football field to let the team know they were backing them all the way.

Speakers at the pep session were Miss Nordholm, Coach Klein, Dan Duncan, Tom Pressley, and Assistant Coach

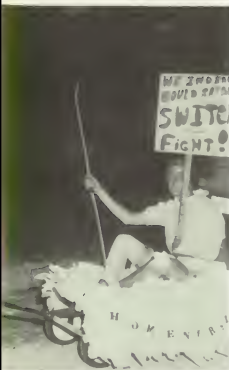

Siatta. G.A.A. girls then made an effort to show the boys how in a powder puff football game against the so-called "Injuns". By the time the pep session and week's activities came to an end, the student body was ready and willing for the game to begin.

At the halftime the Indians were leading but it didn't spoil the momentous moment when Marion Hoffman, senior class president, crowned Miss Dawn Keithley, Lowell High Homecoming Queen '66. The candidates and Queen Dawn circled the field and then were saluted by the Lowell High School band in song.

Unfortunately Lowell lost their Homecoming game 27-0. Numerous injuries to the starting string hurt the team considerably. However, each and every player tried to the best of his ability and was backed by a proud student body.

The Homecoming festivities did not end with the actual game. Following the game was the traditional homecoming dance honoring the newly crowned queen and her court. The first dance was dedicated to Queen Dawn, who whirled around the floor with her escort Dennis Shipley, to the harmonious music of the TJs. When the clock struck eleven the dance ended and the Lowell High School Homecoming of 1966 was brought to a close. However it will remain in the memories of the students who participated in it the rest of their lives.

Nancy Steinkamp Earns Jr. Miss Title

On November 19 at 7:00 p.m. in the Oak Hill School, this year's Jr. Miss Pageant officially began. Seven charming young ladies competed in four different categories in order to find not only Lowell's most lovely young miss, but, the town's most versatile one.

Annually this pageant provides the L.H.S. senior girls an opportunity to display their talents in the areas of scholastics, creative arts, poise, personality, and public speaking. The pageant is sponsored each year by the Lowell Junior Chamber of Commerce.

This year's talent competition was varied and exciting. There were a few vocalists, two pantomimists, some modeling given with a personal touch, and even a ballerina! Each girl was an excellent performer in her own right and each had the inner glow of sincerity which is a necessity for all junior misses.

The judges decision at last was reached and last year's Jr. Miss, Linda Klein, crowned Miss Nancy Steinkamp, Lowell's Jr. Miss 1967.

Formal Highlights Yuletide Season

MELODIOUS TONES OF Christmas carols and both popular and classical selections are produced by Don Adams and his Combo during the evening. The music provides the proper background to put the couples in the true Christmas spirit.

With the arrival of the Christmas season comes the anticipation of the annual Mistletoe Ball. Prior to the occasion Student Council members carefully planned and carried out the business of publicity, decorations, hiring a band and ticket sales in order to create a Christmas Formal long to be remembered in the hearts of LHS'ers.

Finally the long awaited night of December 22nd rolled around offering the couples an evening of ecstasy. The American Legion Hall was transformed to establish the theme "The Night Before Christmas" while the traditional Christmas tree decked the hall with the true Christmas spirit. Couples danced to the musical arrangements of Don Adams and his Combo or merely conversed over soft candlelight with the tranquil rhythm provided by the combo in the background.

Delicious refreshments of various kinds of Christmas cookies and punch were served by members of Student Council. Chaperones included members of the faculty and parents. The Student Council provided a very enjoyable winter evening for approximately 100 couples.

The second annual Sadie Hawkins Dance was sponsored April 21 by the Junior class. This served as another money making project to gather funds for the Prom.

The traditional theme of Dogpatch USA made the evening diverse as well as fun. Girls asked their favorite beaus and made the occasion a true turnabout.

When the oddly dressed pair arrived at the hillbilly scene, Marryin' Sam would satisfy the eager girls with the use of his services for only a dime. Square dancing, like in Lil Abner's home town, was mixed with the beat of today's generation.

The highlight of the hillbilly hullabaloo was the naming of Lil Abner and Daisy Mae. The winning duo, Dennis Shipley and Cheryl Mentzer were chosen for their unique dress. They were presented with a carton of Granny Yokum's tonic, better known as Mountain Dew.

"Hello Young Lovers", "Getting to Know You",

AT THE BEGINNING of the show Julie Seramur, as Madame Leonowens, and Dave Gunnerson, as her son are confronted with the "half-naked" Kralahome, John Cox, and his servant, the Interpreter, John Billings.

JULIE SERAMUR, as Anna, sings two of her songs. While in her evening gown she sings a sad, yet, lovely song, "Hello Young Lovers" and then she sings a song of anger to the "invisible" king, "Shall I Tell You What I Think of You" which is climaxed at the end with a stout kick from a make believe king.

DURING THE SCHOOLROOM scene Anna describes how nice it has been teaching you and "Getting To Know You", the wives and children respond.

Rodgers and Hammerstein's version of "The King and I" was presented by the choral department of Lowell High this year. The third Rodgers and Hammerstein production in three years received the same raving acclaim as did its predecessors, "Oklahoma", and "South Pacific". Under the fine direction of Mr. Wendell Frederick and with the aid of many other faculty members and the two student directors the actors were able to produce a professional-like sound and interpretation.

The musical began with a visit to Siam in 1865, just about the time President Lincoln had freed the slaves. The King of Siam, being a progressive thinker, wanted the ideas of the Western culture to be imprinted on the minds of his subjects. To accomplish this feat he hired an English school teacher, Anna Leonowens. Anna consents to come on one condition that she and her young son will have a house of their own. Throughout the play this is a delicate subject for the King, who originally promised this, does not keep his word. However, Anna accepts the responsibilities of teaching the princes and princesses, plus the wives in royal favor English customs and ideas. At the end of the magnificent production on his death bed the King of Siam proclaims that his people will follow the English ways of life and become revived with western ideas.

Queen and Court Reign

"APRIL SHOWERS BRING MAY FLOWERS" was the theme of the annual Mother's Tea. The 1967 Tea was held in the Lowell High School auditorium, May 3, 7:30 P.M. The May Court carried flower-covered parasols, and the gym's decorations complemented the theme. The traditional tea was a joint effort of the GAA and Home Economics Club to honor the mothers at this time of year.

The enchanting evening began as Brenda Lee, President of the GAA, welcomed the mothers, and in response Mrs. Lee thanked the girls on behalf of the moms. The rest of the program consisted of a fashion show, various vocal numbers, tumbling and even a ballerina!

At the conclusion of the evening's entertainment, the mothers enjoyed cookies and punch served by the Home Economics girls.

... The Art Exhibit

The annual Art Exhibit was held, Wednesday, May 17, at Lowell High School. Each spring after a hard year of work the students show the public that teens can be creative.

Each year the Junior Womens Club presents a "Best in Show Award" and this year the award went to Eddie Moon for his scratchbook entitled "Still Life". Other awards given were for the best boy and girl. They went to Flora Travis for her oil called "Nasturtiums" and for David Burton's wire sculpture entitled "Fish".

Other awards went to James Faverty for his scratchbook, Dorothy Weis for her pottery, Carolyn Saberniak for her hooked rug, Karen Prendergast for her copper piece, Dan Karlsson for his tissue-paper collage, Louise Michiels for her cork work and Daniel Casarez for his chalk drawing.

The show was a great success and all the students who spent many hours working on the exhibit could be proud of their hard work.

To the '67 Seniors

The 1967 Junior-Senior Prom "Younger than Springtime" was presented by the Junior class to the Senior class of 1967 May 20th at the VFW in Lowell. Upperclassmen enjoyed an evening of splendor, dancing to the music of the "Johnny Gene Combo".

The room was beautifully illuminated with shades of yellow and white. A miniature garden with its own foliage and scenery was the center of the refreshment bar. The quaint garden had its own well and swing which were authentically constructed.

Individual tables were grouped at the ends of the hall with the bandstand in the center of things. The "evening of the year" passed quickly as couples danced the time away. The grand march highlighted the evening as every couple paraded around the room sharing their excitement with others. Everyone stood in expectant silence as Karen McCarthy and Cliff Hooley were declared King and Queen of the Prom respectively.

Key to . . . ACADEMICS

The key which opens the door to knowledge at LHS is found through the teachers and the everyday hustle and bustle of the classroom scene. The teacher in the classroom tries to offer several different doors always open to the student. The only necessities to find the key to unlock the doors that lead to the paths of knowledge are, diligent study, cooperation, attitude, and class participation. Any student who possesses these aptitudes is sure to find the right key and open the door to the successive future study or career.

"FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT", shouts Coach Jack Ford to the Varsity Cagers at the thrilled-packed Andean upset.

MR. ROGER SCHNEPF, PRINCIPAL

2 New Faces Accept Administrative Demands

Meeting the ever-changing demands of chief administrator, Mr. Roger Schnepf, overtook the task of shaping LHS into a productive unit this year. With the help of the chief disciplinarian, Assistant Principal, Mr. James Elbert, many changes and innovations have occurred in school procedures.

Minor problems that plague every school year seemed to grow less troublesome as the 1966-67 school year progressed. For instance, the parking dilemma which grew to enormous heights at the beginning of the year was soon ironed out and a safe orderly place for the students to park was established. A Questionable Council was set up, members consisted of students who had several dishonorable appointments with the assistant principal. Mr. Elbert conducted a weekly meeting with the Council and tried to keep members interested in school oriented activities.

Mr. James Elbert, Ass't Principal

Mr. Roger Sturm, Superintendent

Tri-Creek Corp. Begins New High School

Superintendent Sturm has revolutionized not only the entire educational objectives, but also the building arrangements and future construction plans for the Tri-Creek area. An ultra-modern building is expected to be ready for the graduating class of '69. The building will include such luxuries as carpeting throughout the school, air conditioning, swimming pool, a theater in the round, and a 5,000 capacity gymnasium. Mr. Sturm also commented that this deluxe school will contain many hidden educational advantages. It is hoped that a closed circuit television can be provided. Under this new method of individual study, the library will store tapes and film strips for use by the student as a supplement of classroom.

The emphasis in the new building will be placed on training the non-college bound in a vocation. This will be accomplished by adding such courses as printing, electricity, and bricklaying to the curriculum.

Mr. Roger Sturm, listed in the "Who's Who of the Midwest" and the entire school board plan many improvements for the system with the hopes that become realities.

1966-67 SCHOOL BOARD: Mr. Roger Sturm, Superintendent; Mr. Harold Snyder, Vice-president; Mr. Richard Little, Secretary; Dr. Robert Smith, President; Mr. Vernon Childress, Treasurer; and Mr. John Gray, member.

dized Texts

The English Department at Lowell High successfully co-ordinates outside material with the text book. Through the magical media of books many new adventures, opinions, and ideas are offered to the student. Classical as well as popular reading material is reviewed. At times Shakespeare can grow a little gruesome and Hemingway too tiring but all in all a broad understanding of different people and their environments is achieved.

Aside from the required courses of English and Literature new fields are also explored. Through speech class a student can gain self confidence and the ease in study of dramatic arts brings out the hidden talent in the student and prepares him for a future part in a play cast or crew. Journalistic training gives the novice experience in writing and editing so that he may someday join the Lowellete or Lowellian staff.

A vivid command of the English language and understanding of people and their ideas is essential to everyone. Lowell students rank high on this aspect.

MRS. BETTY SHAFER, B.A. State University of Iowa; M.A. Valparaiso University; sponsors Scribbings and Senior Class, teaches College English and English III.

MR. WILLIAM MARTIN, B.S. and M.S. Indiana State University; Graduate work, University of Illinois; sponsors Star and Hammer, Thespians, teaches Speech and Dramatics, English IV, and Journalism.

MRS. GLADYS HETHERINGTON, B.A. Hanover College; Graduate work, University of Minnesota; teaches English II. Mrs. Hetherington regretfully had to leave during the first Semester because of illness.

New Faces and Equipment Grace Sci-Math

MR. OMER BEECHING, A.B. Olivet Nazarene College; sponsors the class of 1967; teaches biology, botany, and zoology.

MR. PHILLIP SMITH, B.S. Indiana State University; teaches Earth Science and General Science, teaches at the Junior High half a day.

MR. JACK HOBBS, B.S. Indiana State College; M.S. Indiana State College; sponsors National Honor Society; teaches physics, Algebra I & II, geometry and senior math, which deals with trig and calculus.

Dept.

Math and science courses are good preparation for college-bound students. But more important, they supply students with an understanding as to how to cope with some of the problems that they are inevitably going to meet in the future whether they are going to college or not.

In order to begin this understanding, Lowell High is blessed with a new math and science department, including not only the equipment, but a new teaching staff with new concepts of teaching as well.

The math department now consists of six teachers, presenting subjects which range from General Math to the all-new computer-math course. The laboratory has new lab desks with many of the more modern "extras". The new lab adds more variety to classroom activities, and helps teachers to present the material in a more interesting way.

MRS. JO ANN IRWIN, B.S.
Gordon College; teaches Chemistry
I and Chemistry II.

MR. LAWRENCE OU'WENGA, A.B. Olivet Nazarene
College; teaches Algebra I and Geometry I.

MR. JOHN SKINNER, Bachelor of Vo-Ag Purdue; M.A. Education Purdue; teaches General Math and General Science, and sponsors intramurals.

MR. LEOPOLDO SALADO ARISTA, A.B., M.S.
Indiana State University; Dr. of Laws, University of Havana; sponsors Spanish Club; teaches Spanish
I, II, III.

MR. WENDELL FREDERICK, B.A. Manchester College;
M.A. Northwestern; sponsors Latin Club; teaches Latin I and II, directs Choir.

25% of Students Pursue Foreign Tongue

MRS. LORANNA WALTON, A.B. Indiana University; sponsors French Club; teaches French I and II.

It was a very good year . . . yes, it seemed to be as nearly 25% of the students at L.H.S. took a language or languages. In 1966 a third year was added to Spanish and a second year to French and Latin.

The Spanish students got a first hand example of a Spanish accent from Senor Arista. Mrs. Walton used the tape recorder and suzette for her first and second year classes.

Have you ever noticed any words in our language that look foreign? We have quite a few French words that we use occasionally. Hors d'oeuvre, that little tidbit eaten to wane your appetite before dinner and a mirage, an optical illusion. The Latin language also offers us many. They are used in law, medical, and scientific terms, doctors' prescriptions, coinage of new words (astronaut-star sailor), etc.

In Latin class, reports on the Roman way of life and plays are given each year. Original French skits were given too. Mr. Arista enjoyed the Spanish workbook. He felt it gave the students extra help in understanding.

Through understanding of another man's tongue a greater understanding of his environment and ideas can be achieved. This is the reason some 200 students pursue a foreign language each year at L.H.S.

Fine Arts Encourage Creativity

ART IV STUDENTS, Karen Craft, Carolyn Saberniak, Jim Faverty, Marilyn Heath, and Denny Kwiatkowski diligently work on oil portraits, one of the many interesting projects art students do each year.

The Fine Arts Department of Lowell High School creates a time of enjoyment along with the increase of knowledge. Band, Choir, and Art requires a talent and a real desire to express yourself. All three of these subjects may be taken as major courses.

Each of these departments requires more than one hour per day of class room work. Practice makes perfect and this is required for everyone.

The Band, each year, provides concerts and many pep band performances.

The Choir's musical and concerts present many hours of true enjoyment. The Art Department spends all school year working on their annual Spring Exhibit.

Even with all of the extracurricular activities during the school year, none of these departments end there. Summer brings camp and workshops for music and art students alike.

Certainly Lowell students are creative and always ready to better themselves and their community with graphic and musical arts.

MR. ROBERT STEPP, B.S. Indiana University; directs and sponsors band. Left midterm for Army.

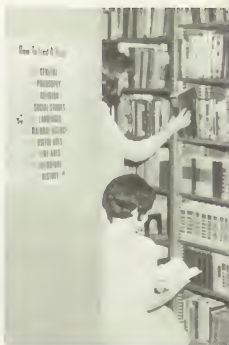

MR. ROBERT RAY, B.A. Iowa Wesleyan College; B.A.E. Art Institute, Chicago; M.F.A. Drake University; sponsors Sophomore Class, teaches Art I, II, III, and IV.

Social Science Classes Explore Yesterday T

MR. LEONARD SIATTA, B.S. Murray State College, Head Wrestling Coach, Assistant Football Coach, teaches World History and Psychology, sponsors Freshman Class.

CLASS PARTICIPATION proves to be an effective means of bringing out student opinions.

RESEARCH is often necessary for various projects in the Social Science area. Dawn Keithley, Karen McCarthy, and Tom Anderson, make use of the library.

MR. DOUGLAS VICE, B.A. Marian College, M.A. Indiana University, teaches Sociology and Government, sponsors Senior class.

Today and Tomorrow

The social sciences are considered a relatively new field of learning, although history and geography have existed for a long time.

Economics is said to have begun with mercantilism which flourished from the middle of the fifteenth to the eighteenth century. It is important in high schools today because of the fact that it helps students prepare to make a life of their own and to understand the basic facts of our economy. Government also promotes a better understanding of the defensive part of our country.

Psychology and sociology prepare students for tomorrow. It helps them understand themselves and others as well.

Today there is an increasing interest in the social sciences. Attempts are constantly under way to improve the methods of the social sciences so that it may become more objective, although it cannot approach the objectivity of the physical sciences. There is continually growing demand for trained social scientists to work in academic as well as nonacademic institutions. To meet this demand more and more students are choosing careers in social sciences.

MR. MICHAEL LEMON, B.A. Purdue University, Assistant Football Coach, sponsors Sophomore Class, teaches Economics and World History.

Home Ec Girls Prepare for Future

MISS CATHERINE MORROW, B.S. Purdue University; sponsors Sunshine Club and Home Ec Club; teaches Home Economics II and III.

MRS. JANNON CLARK, B.S. New York University; sponsors Home Economics Club; teaches Home Economics I and IV, which takes in sewing and family relations.

The home economic classes put their minds to very practical and exciting things this year. What could be more exciting to a family relations class than to talk the subject over with some real live boys? Co-ed discussions were held this year and proved to be quite interesting as well as profitable. A party was planned for pre-school children by the child care division to study the children's behavior patterns. Sewing, cooking, family relations and child care classes exist to teach potential homemakers to live efficiently and happily in today's world.

HOME EC III GIRLS, Linda McDonald, Janice Hammersly, and Pauline Quasbarth busily prepare sewing projects before receiving teacher's inspection, grade and approval.

Shop Students Develop Varied Skills

The Industrial Arts Department offers boys many practical skills through its regular shop program and other special programs. The regular shop program starts with an exploratory shop, consisting of one semester each of general shop and general drawing. From this point, the boy decides whether to continue with shop covering general woods and advanced woods, or to branch off to the drawing program, taking technical drawing, architectural drawing and advanced drawing.

Other courses offered are comprehensive shop; touching upon all aspects of shop work; basic electricity, dealing with theory and application; and directed shop study for those students who want to follow their special interests and goals.

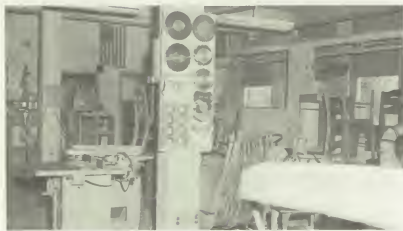

Goals stressed in the Industrial Arts courses are good work habits, familiarity with tools used in various industries, and safety mindedness. Through these skills he can pursue a vocation in many varied works of life.

MR. WILLIAM KALBAC, B.S. Indiana State University; graduate work, Indiana State University, teaches General, Technical, and Advanced Drawing and Basic Electricity; sponsors Junior class.

MR. MIKE MILAKOVIC, B.S. Ball State University; teaches Shop, and is Athletic Director.

AS THE SAWDUST CLEARS and the equipment is once again put in its proper place the shop acquires an air of organization and serenity.

Physical Education Keeps Bodies Fit

TUMBLING DOWN THE MAT to perform a forward or backward roll is just one of the many stunts the girls in the physical education classes soon would master with ease and grace.

MR. JACK FORD, B.S. Indiana University, M.S. I.U.; sponsors L. Club; coaches basketball, cross country and track; teaches Algebra I, physical education and health.

MISS CATHERINE NORDHOLM, B.S. Indiana State University; sponsors GAA and Pep Club; teaches physical education and health.

MR. LESTER KLEIN, B.S. Indiana State; sponsors L. Club and junior class; teaches physical education, alcohol education, general business; head football coach.

MISS MARY ALICE WILCOX, A.B. Central Normal College, M.A. Indiana University; in charge of bookstore; teaches Shorthand I & II, and office practice.

MR. GEORGE HAM, A.B. DePaw University; graduate work State University of Iowa; sponsors sophomore class and publication typists; teaches Typing I.

Business Dept. Stresses Mind and Muscle

MR. ROBERT MILLER, B.S. and M.S. Indiana State University; sponsors publication photographers; coaches golf; teaches Bookkeeping I and II, salesmanship, and business law.

Coordination of both the mind and the muscle is the chief aim of the business department of LHS. It is fine to know where the "s" key is on a typewriter keyboard, but if the student's finger won't touch it, he's sunk. The student must be able to think fast and accurate in order to take dictation of one hundred words a minute.

Business courses, as every course, prepare the student for a future career. Typing may come in handy when, at college, he has two term papers due. The secretary of the future gains practical skills by taking office practice in her senior year. She actually takes on all the secretarial responsibilities for a teacher and soon becomes familiar with all the office procedures.

MR. JAMES LITTLE, B.S. and M.S. Purdue University; teachers Vocational Ag and sponsors FFA.

MAKING AN INTRODUCTION to one of the guest speakers, Vernon Childress, president of the FFA, glances momentarily at his notes.

Vocational Ag Teaches Farming Techniques

BOTTOM RIGHT—Mrs. Maysie Childress gives a response in behalf of the mothers at the FFA banquet. TOP LEFT—Mr. Don Moeller delivers his speech on meeting the challenges tomorrow may bring.

The vocational ag class, as every class at LHS prepares students for the future. However, this class specializes in helping the would-be farmer learn the most scientific techniques of planting, plowing, and managing the barnyard scene.

Most of the boys who are enrolled in an ag class become members of the FFA and participate in the activities of the organization. Annually a banquet is held for both the parents and the boys. This year Vernon Childress, as president of the FFA, presided over the festivities. The special guest speaker for the occasion was Mr. Don Moeller, head of the Public Relations Department of Swift & Co. Here is an excerpt from his speech entitled, "Meeting the Challenge of Tomorrow"

"Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man, when tillage begins, other arts follow. The farmers, therefore, are the founders of cultivation.

Counselors Give Tests and Compile Results

A new face at L.H.S. this year, Mr. Lee Perry, brought new ideas and philosophies into the guidance department. With the assistance of Mrs. Arlene Vandermark and Miss Bever, Mr. Perry took on the responsibilities as department head.

The purpose of having guidance counselors is to aid the student with his social, academic, and home problems and to administer tests to the college bound students.

The counselors try to be a friend to the individual student and of helpful assistance whenever the need arises.

MISS ELAINE BEVER, B.S. Butler University; M.S. Indiana State University. Works as guidance counselor.

MRS. ARLENE VANDERMARK, B.S. Purdue University, M.E.D. De Paul university. Works as guidance counselor.

MR. LEE PERRY, B.A. Indiana Central College, M.S. Indiana University; heads guidance department; sponsors Student Council.

MRS. HAM worked in the main office for the first semester.

Office Staff and Librarians Meet the

MRS. INELL BUSSELBERG is in charge of the office staff of the assistant principal.

MRS. AUDREY STEPHAN aides Miss Thompson with the library duties.

THE LIBRARY, which is used as a study hall every period, provides a quiet atmosphere for concentration and reference materials are always close at hand.

MRS. WOOLRIDGE, supervisor of the main office staff, is kept busy continually throughout the day.

Ever-Challenging Day at LHS

Without the help of our efficient office staff our school would never be able to run very smoothly. The purpose of the office staff is to act as a private secretary would to Mr. Schnepf by helping him in clerical matters. However they serve the student body as well by preparing a daily bulletin which announces meetings and the menu for the next day and by selling game tickets.

Helping the student find research materials and books for pleasure the librarians are kept equally busy. They answer any and all questions concerning reading material and are glad to be of some aid to the student. The librarians also distribute visual aides to the teachers. These movies are ordered by the teacher in advance and offer the student a broader perception of the topic being studied.

MISS GERALDINE THOMPSON,
A.B. Lindenwood College, M.A. University of Illinois; works as chief Librarian at LHS.

Many Classes Require Substitutes' Aid

ONE EAGER STUDENT raises his hand to spark class participation. This participation causes the student to think for himself and be able to voice his opinion sensibly.

MISS ROXIE YAKE, B.S. Indiana University; teaches College English; sponsors Scribbings. Miss Yake substituted for Mrs. Betty Shaffer in second semester classes. This was her first semester of actual teaching.

MISS MARKLE, B.S. Indiana State University; teaches English I and II. Miss Markle became Mrs. Hetherington's permanent substitute second semester.

MRS. BAILEY, B.S. University of Western Louisiana; Mrs. Bailey was on call to be a substitute in any field from chemistry to English throughout the school year. Mrs. Keithley (not pictured) also helped to fill in when teachers were absent for numerous reasons.

PREPARING FOR THE Noon rush are Mrs. Sarah De Vries, Mrs. Toni Nichols, Mrs. Juanita Hall, Mrs. Virginia Pressley and Mrs. Muriel Herz.

*We may live without poetry, music,
and art;*

We may live without conscience, and live without heart.

We may live without friends; we may live without books;

But civilized man cannot live without cooks.

Owen Meredith

Without our cooks we never would be alive. We never could be able to subside. Their hot lunches are great, their ala carte divine. All you must do is survive the lunch line.

Cooks, Custodians Prove Indispensable

This year the custodians of Lowell High School have worked to satisfy the many needs of the student body. They have succeeded in making Lowell High a better place for students to learn, by giving it a pleasant and clean atmosphere. By improving their atmosphere the students are inclined to excel to the best of their ability. The custodians are the unsung heroes of the faculty, we wish to extend our thanks to these people; Mr. and Mrs. Cronkite, Beany Roy and Mr. Gibson.

Custodians; Mr. Leo Cronkhite, Mrs. Katherine Cronkhite, Bernard Roy, and Goldman Gibson smile for the LOWELLIAN camera.

THREE SENIOR GIRLS; Julie Seramur, Peg Govert and Marcia Wilson busily eat a hearty lunch.

Finally Devils Gratefully Clutch . . . Trophies

FOOTBALL COACH, Les Klein makes the outstanding awards in football as well as track for he also coaches the track squad.

UPPER RIGHT: Aleda Hale receives the Outstanding Band Member Award which is presented by Mr. Stepp, Director of the group. This award is given to a Senior who has been an active member in the organization all four years. Aleda's honors did not end there she is also Valedictorian of the Class of 1967. LEFT: Kurt Steuer receives the Outstanding Award in the fields of both Science and Physics, much diligent work and hard study in the field of science, which can get quite complicated, won Kurt this award.

... Pins ... and Other Awards

On May 26th it seemed that Spring had come at last. As a matter of fact, it seemed that the long Winter had been replaced by an equally miserable Summer. But humid and uncomfortable as it was, we all amassed in the gym for Honors Day. We met to honor those students who had excelled in everything from catching pests to having the highest grade index; from running the fastest (on the track team, that is) to being the best all-round athlete.

Mr. Milakovic took the rostrum from Mr. Schnepf, and began the presentation of awards with the naming of letter winners in track and baseball. Then the stage was set for honoring academic excellence. A first for Lowell High was the Gladys Hetherington Award for excellence in English by a senior student; the first recipient being Karen Craft. This is to be an annual award from this time on.

The new editors of the LHS publications were announced as Malcolm Smith took the helm of the Lowellian and Judy Fleener the Lowellette. The Gary Post Tribune award for the most valuable staff member of the school paper went to editor Karen Craft and Co-Editors Pat Markel and Judy Yates were cited for a job well done by a grateful Mr. Ralph COACH FORD, as one of the sponsors of the Lettermen's Club, presents the awards to the officers of the same, recalling as he does the many innovations that this organization did this year.

Adams, Publications Director.

Music, Art, and Science all had their day as excellence in these fields was cited. Good citizenship was also in the spot light as Sue Luebcke received the D.A.R. Award. Those who did us the honor of true academic excellence by earning a perfect 4.00 grade index for the entire year were honored as Mr. Schnepf called them to the stage.

Lastly Mr. Perry, Mrs. Vandermark, and Miss Bever announced the scholarship winners of the Class of '67. This was actually a dual presentation as Mr. Schnepf joined the three faculty members and announced the final honor: the presentation of the Valedictorian, Aleda Hale, and the Salutatorian, Marion Hoffman. Needless to say, we are all proud of them.

Pride was, perhaps, the best description of the feeling in most of us that day. Pride and the feeling that these people belong to us and represented us. Although we are limited and cannot name all of the award winners, we are equally proud of all of them; whether it is athletics or agriculture, academics or home economics, we are proud of their excellence.

... Sweat—Toil—and Tears ... At Last It

MARION HOFFMAN gratefully shakes hands with Athletic Director, Mike Milakovic, upon receive a brand new award, for the boy in athletics throughout his high school life which has done the best scholastically. Marion is Salutatorian of the class of 1967 as well as being a fine wrestler and track man.

ABOVE: Susan Luehke really "cleaned up" on the awards. Here she is receiving the GAA Award for the best all-around GAA-er. BELOW: Sue accepts with much surprise the award for the most Outstanding Student in the field of Mathematics, for she has taken it all four years and managed to usually pull through with an A. Sue also was chosen the DAR Good Citizen earlier in the year. And she was awarded a pin for her membership in choir. On top of all these, Sue won a scholarship to Purdue.

SUE picks up her Math Award which was presented by her teacher, Mr. Hobbs.

All Seemed Worth It . . .

LOWELLETTE EDITOR, Karen Craft, not only received an award from the Gary Post Tribune, for the Most Valuable Staffer, in the form of a quite large plaque, but was very fortunate to be the first one awarded a new award, and thus set a precedent. This award was given by Lowell High in memoriam of one of the finest English teachers, Mrs. Gladys Hetherington, who passed away this year. Mrs. Hetherington was a true friend to each of her students and furthered their English education for many years.

BILL CLARK graciously accepts an award presented by the Lowell Junior Women's Club which is in the form of a scholarship to an Artist Workshop this summer. Bill's creative talents were displayed at this year's annual art Exhibit.

Key to . . . ACTIVITIES

The key which opens the door to the friendships which club participation can bring is the willingness to become a part of the group and to strive to make the group GREAT. Friendship is established by being an active member of a group outside of the everyday classroom scene. Although often times the group is merely an extension of classroom interests, the extra curricular organization creates a different atmosphere in which to learn and grow in knowledge. Through the different activities the group participates in, the key to added friendships is molded; a key which will prove invaluable in college or business life in future years.

... Formal, Open House, All in a Year's Work

Changing in the administration and with many new faculty members the Student Council had an even greater job of keeping the students and faculty in touch. However, with superb leadership on the part of council members and cooperation from all concerned the council accomplished their goal.

Many activities composed the schedule of this organization throughout the school year. Annually the Council sponsors a five-day Homecoming festival. This year the event included a pre-game parade, halftime crowning of the queen, the actual game and a dance afterwards. Christmas time was highlighted for many LHS students by the semi-formal dance sponsored by the group. Also the club held an open house in the fall and invited all the parents to attend. To break the monotony of the school day many convocations were presented this year compliments of the council.

Winding up their active year with thoughts of next year's many activities, the Council holds a mock election. A week of campaigning is climaxed by the actual voting day, when the students get to voice their choice on a real live voting machine.

SUE LUEBCKE offers a few words of advice to the new N.H.S. members.

In order to be eligible to become a member of the National Honor Society you must have at least a 3.00 average and excel in leadership, character and service qualities at L.H.S. The entire faculty votes on the nominees and a certain percent from each class become members.

This year an induction ceremony was held in front of the student body. Speeches were given on each quality that a member should possess. Here is an excerpt from the speech entitled "Service" given by Sue Luebcke.

"To live the fullest life we cannot live for ourselves alone. Good scholarship, fine character, and inspiring leadership may each find itself lacking in some small part if to it is not added service for our fellowman. The minor courtesies of today can be increased and developed to be the major services of tomorrow. By practicing friendliness and good will now, you will be of benefit to this country as an adult. Now is the time when we need men and women who can raise above everyday matters and serve both God and man unselfishly."

The LHS Sunbeamers Radiate Good Will

The Sunshine Club is Lowell High School's good will ambassador to the student body. The club sends gifts, get well cards, and flowers to students who are stricken ill during the school year. The sunbeamers also serve as a good will ambassador to the world. They sponsor an American Indian boy, Richard Lopez, by paying for his schooling and his necessities of life. At Christmas time, on his birthday, and on several other holidays the club sends numerous gifts to their adopted son.

During Thanksgiving season the club members annually hold a turkey raffle to boost their funds. A few lucky souls are surprised with a free Thanksgiving dinner and the club uses the profits in their worthwhile causes. Collection of Betty Crocker coupons continued this year, however, the original goal of a fan bus was abandoned. After all 1,000,000 coupons is a lot of cakes and mixes. Some other worthy project will be taken up in the near future and the coupons will be used to further its cause.

To become a member in this organization a student must sign up in his freshman year, then 12 new members are voted in, and remain such for all four years.

. Forms Sectional Block To Boost Spirit

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y that's the SENIOR battle cry—also the junior, sophomore, and freshman. The Pep Club kept our teams winning with this yell this year. About 100 enthusiastic rooters made the Pep Club a true success. Aided by the Pep Band they literally raised the roof.

Although cheering teams on to victory was the club's main function, the fans also sold pillows to make the bleachers a little more comfortable for avid followers of the basketball teams. These plastic pillows with the Devil printed on the red background in black were a very profitable venture.

Despite the blizzard, the Pep Club, 100 strong, turned out for the Sectional tourney at Crown Point. The red and black pennies, white gloves and corsages made the Pep Club an inspiration to the players. The team sensed the club was behind them all the way and played an outstanding game.

PEP CLUB Officers, Clyda Sark, Vice President, Dawn Keithley, President, and Cheri Hartwick, Secretary-Treasurer, headed various committees throughout the year.

French Club Organizes Cancer Drive

The 1966-67 French Club commenced the school year by sponsoring a Teacher's Tea. The purpose was to introduce the new faculty members to Lowell High. The tea was termed a big success as coffee and doughnuts were served and the teachers had time to meet their co-workers.

During the Christmas season the Frenchies brought cheer into the hearts of many townfolk as they caroled both English and French through the streets of Lowell. After the night of singing the loyal carolers enjoyed refreshments in the school's cafeteria.

As another community service the club members sponsored a cancer drive throughout the neighboring communities. The money went to the American Cancer Association for the prevention and research in the communities hospitals.

To be a member of this club, one had to have a sincere interest in the French language and culture. Being in French class is not mandatory, unless the member is an officer.

The purpose that some 40 odd students meet to form a language club this year was to study Spanish culture and customs. Since this year's sponsor was of Cuban descent the members got a first hand account of Spanish-speaking culture and way of life.

A unique exhibit of Spanish atmosphere was displayed in the brightly colored palm trees that decked the halls at Homecoming. The Spaniards boosted spirit tremendously with their excellent contribution.

Winter weather did not keep Spanish Club members indoors. They celebrated Navidad in the traditional Spanish way by caroling through the ciudad de Lowell.

To increase the treasury a bake sale was held in Grants Department store. Those students who diligently worked on the bake sale were treated to a Spanish fiesta, Cuban style at Senor Arista's Home.

Romanians Don Togas and Sandals

THE '66-67 LATIN CLUB officers, members of Latin II, are from left to right: Monica Beckman, president; Brother Ruley, treasurer; Marcia Wilson, secretary; and Ron Iliff, vice-president.

The Latin Club, in its second year of organization since its revival last year, is sponsored by Mr. Frederick. The purpose of this organization is to familiarize the student's of second year Latin to the background of Roman culture. President Monica Beckman presides over meetings held during Latin II class every other Friday. Reports, films and plays are given to interest the students in the Roman language which they are studying. This year, along with other school organizations, the Latin club participated in the Homecoming parade and decorating of the school halls. A grand finale to the club's year is the annual Roman Banquet. The members of Latin Club arrayed in Roman togas and sandals are served the ancient dishes of the Romans by the slaves, first year Latin students. The highlight of the Latin Club's Roman Banquet is the award which is given to the most original and authentic costume. Latin Club members were enthusiastic and really made a go of their organization by participating in all club activities planned this year.

Homemakers Encourage Christmas Cheer

BEAMING WITH PRIDE upon receiving the Betty Crocker Homemaker of the Year Award, Louann DeWell accepts her honorary pin from Mrs. Clark.

HOME EC CLUB OFFICERS: Sharon Stahl, Treasurer; Ruth Wiethbrock, Secretary; Carol Shultz, President; Carolyn Saberniak, Vice President.

The Home Economics Club prepares future homemakers through interesting and informative information. Besides regular business meetings the club had many guest speakers throughout the course of the year. Some of the guests were the Wear-ever Pan Company and the American Coffee Company. Each of these lectures provided the future homemaker with helpful hints on the most practical and less expensive products. The Home Ec Club annually helps sponsor the Mothers' Tea by making and serving refreshments and presenting a style show. In this style show the girls model the outfits they have made during the year in Home Ec class. The girls engaged in fund raising projects, such as; candy sales, bake sales, and car washes.

Each year, as this year the would-be homemakers traveled to St. Edwards Nursing Home in Crown Point. Here the girls distributed presents and bakery goods to the elderly, bringing a bit of cheer to their sheltered lives.

FFA Boys Participate in Contests

The Future Farmers of America had an active year at LHS. In addition to visiting various farms in the area the club took part in ridding the area of pests. This is not a new project. Each year the boys are sent out to kill any varmint that's dumb enough to step in their path. Each bagged pest counts a certain number of points. The boys with the highest points wins. This years power exterminator was Forrest Blaker, he not only bagged the greatest number of pests, but, also first prize. Second went to Steve Henke and third to James Graun. Prizes were supplied by Midtown Hardware.

The club climaxed its year with a banquet held at the high school cafeteria. Awards were presented to several members and Miss Dawn Keithley was chosen FFA Sweetheart and presented a white jacket with the FFA insignia embroidered in the club's colors royal blue and golden yellow.

Cadets Pace Marching Red Devils

This year the L.H.S. Cadets, under the direction of Mr. Stepp and Miss Pat Pace, have traveled with the band throughout Indiana. The corp of thirteen girls, headed by captain Diane Holloway, has marched in Richmond, Terre Haute, Lowell, at Riverview's Mardi Gras celebration in Chicago, and at all of Lowell's home football games. The corp shows off its versatility by alternating the use of shakers (pom-poms) and batons during the years' performances. Altogether '67 was a very good year for the L.H.S. Cadets!

BASSES: Don Gorball, Randy Powers, Darrell Powers, Drum Major; Gregg Schilling.

SAXOPHONES: La Verne Pettigrew, Marsha Taylor, Martha Gidley, Ben Mentink, Sue Carson, Kathy Olsen.

Marching Red Devils

The Lowell High School Marching Red Devils stepped out to another year of concerts, parades and half-time entertainment. The 1966-67 program opened with an August band camp. Precision marching and showmanship were stressed as the Red Devils worked up routines for River-views' Mardi Gras and the local Labor Day Parade.

Football season arrived in September and with it came the LHS marching unit, which provided entertainment throughout the halves. The band prepared for Dad's Night a special patriotic routine which had a stirring effect on the crowd.

In October the band was a guest at I.S.U.'s homecoming celebration in Terre Haute. The parade was televised throughout southern Indiana and the Devils gave an unforgettable performance.

The holiday season was highlighted by the Christmas Concert. This was Mr. Stepp's last public appearance for the year because his reserve unit was called. Mr. Fredrick helped fill in, despite his heavy schedule. With the cooperation of all concerned the band hopes to be ready for future activities when Mr. Stepp returns during the summer.

Choir Presents Musical, Concerts; Participates in

If you have heard soft musical tones during 2nd or 5th period it was probably the LHS choir. Our choir began the season with a Thanksgiving and a Christmas convocation for the entire student body.

The purpose of the choir is to serve the community as a major vocal performing organization as well as a continuation in the study of music, for the musically-interested student. Several ensembles representative of the choir sing at clubs throughout the community during the year.

Highlighting the choir's activities is always a musical in the spring of the year. However, the members prepare for the big event as soon as the Christmas concert is over. This year, for the third consecutive year, a Rodgers and Hammerstein musical was chosen, "The King and I" thrilled audiences with almost professional appeal.

Bringing a close to an active year, the choir journeyed to River Forest, to present a superb concert and receive a standing ovation from the entire student assembly. This was part of an exchange program and the next day River Forest choralairs visited Lowell.

"CLIMB EVERY MOUNTAIN", sings Jean Abraham, Secretary of the Choir, during the Mothers' Tea.

HARMONIOUS MUSIC was put forth by the choir at the Thanksgiving convocation.

THE DOUBLE QUARTET sang at many occasions throughout the year. Here they raise their voices to the lovely song Moon River.

Star and Hammer and Thespians Produce Christmas

"All the worlds a stage, And all the men and women merely players. They have their exits and entrances; And one man in his time plays many parts . . ."

William Shakespeare

During the second year of the dramatics organization, the Star and Hammer accomplished much towards its goal. Each meeting a small play or skit was performed, offering the would-be actor an opportunity to gain self confidence.

"Her Christmas Wish", a charming Yuletide play, was a combined effort of both Thespians and Star and Hammer members, which was presented as part of the Christmas convocation.

Thespians are Star and Hammer members who have performed in a number of activities to collect a total of ten points. The Thespian pledge appears on the opposite page.

Christmas Play, "Her Christmas Wish"

"I solemnly promise to uphold the aims and ideals of the National Thespian Society. As a Thespian, I pledge my best efforts in all my assignments given to me as a member of the Dramatic Arts Department of this school. I shall accept criticism, disappointments, and promotions in a spirit of true humility and obedience. I shall ever strive for self-discipline and self improvement. I shall govern my words and actions to promote the highest standards of conduct in my troupe, in my school, in my community, in my country, and throughout the world so that I will be worthy of the high honor of Thespian membership."

GAA Promotes Cooperation, Sportsmanship, and

"Every person is responsible for all the good within the scope of his abilities, and for no more, and none can tell whose sphere is the largest."

Gail Hamilton

PARTICIPATING in the annual Homecoming parade are GAA officers Jean Abraham; Vice President, Brenda Lee; President, Lisa Haberzette; Secretary-Treasurer, and Sponsor Miss Catherine Nordholm.

GO TEAM GO! The girls put on a demonstration at the pep-session of how the game Homecoming night will begin, progress, and end. Of course, the girls in the Lowell jerseys were victorious over the other team, which went down in shambles.

Tumbling, jumping on the trampoline, playing softball, basketball, and badminton, plus entering in several contests against neighboring schools were some of the many activities the girls in GAA participated in. Many nice awards are presented to the girls on the basis of times they participated in activities.

The Girl's Athletic Association offers interested girls a chance to participate in team as well as individual sports. To the figure conscious female, an hour after school every week, serves as not only a fun and game time, but, as an energetic supplement to her reducing program. A girl's character is also revived in this hour. She finds new companions, team cooperation, and sportsmanship all rolled up in one.

The club's anthem (below) states the qualifications of a true GAAer.

GAA girls, GAA girls, GAA girls we're all for you. With your laughing and friendly spirit, you will never say gee I'm blue. You are loyal to all your team mates to your friends and your teachers too. GAA girls, GAA girls, GAA girls, WE'RE ALL FOR YOU!!

DIANE HOLLOWAY performs on the trampoline to show the admirers the ease and grace of proper form on the trampoline during the GAA activity period.

Yearbook Staff Remodels 1967

Fellow Students—

A yearbook is more than ink on paper. It is the life and breath of months of planning and work by a devoted staff. But more than this, a yearbook can only be compiled with the cooperation of the student body.

We are happy and relieved that the LOWELLIAN has at last gone to press. We hope it brings back many fond memories for you in future years. Thanks goes to all who made this memory book possible.

COPY EDITOR AND BUSINESS MANAGER. Karen Reeves diligently spent many long hours after school working to make her part of the LOWELLIAN as near perfect as possible.

Planning of the 1967 LOWELLIAN commenced early in the summer of 1966 when this year's co-editors traveled to Indiana University and attended a crammed packed two week workshop. During this time the girls learned the characteristics of a prize winning yearbook and decided to make some long needed changes in the LOWELLIAN. When the doors opened to begin school in the fall the editors along with their new advisor chose a theme and decided to make many innovations in the 1967 yearbook. Included in these was changing the printing to letterpress. As the editors and staff drew layouts, cropped pictures, typed and fitted copy, making sure it was all perfect, they wondered if it was really worth it. There were also those Saturdays when they canvassed the community and countryside selling ads and leaving their personal Saturday activities behind. However once the deadlines were met and all was put away, everyone realized that all endeavors were really worth it.

THE LOWELLETTE

VOL. LX Number 7 Lowell, Indiana March 9, 1967

CRAFT'S CRAFTY STAFFERS HOSPITALIZED FROM

OVER EXHAUSTION

EDITOR, KAREN CRAFT and advisor Mr. Ralph Adams discuss current epidemic.

A dreadful malady struck the LOWELLETTE staff, as well as the rest of the student body and faculty this Spring. The disease was not visible in its early stages; HOWEVER, later symptoms included lack of p-e-p; fixation of the eyeball on one subject, temporary deterioration of muscle response, and a lodging of sound waves while still in the outer ear. The layman's term for this epidemic was SPRING FEVER! All students were warned by the LOWELLETTE staff, "If you fear you have the symptoms—drink plenty of liquids, take aspirins, and get plenty of sleep.

The degenerate staff hid their misery and continued to serve the LHS students throughout the epidemic.

GAA Purchases Swimming Pool

Miss Nordholm announced today that the GAA will donate an olympic size pool to Lowell High. GAA made its fortune from the sale of used Kleenexes which were used for stuffing chicken wire for the Mother's Tea.

Take It from an Upperclassman

After kicking around these halls for a number of years, you soon learn a few tricks of the trade—the trade being survival. The golden rule of high school is: Don't get in the way of a person in a hurry. To illustrate . . . do you think that the doorway in the library is split so as to hold up the wall? Indeed not. If you haven't noticed—that's what the librarians hold on to . . . so as not to be swept out in the surge of the multitudes.

Those groups, we see, and run into, in the halls aren't gossiping, they are remembering that there is safety in numbers. The gatherings around the fountains are to ward off collisions.

In order to live life to the fullest you must, positively must, have a workable knowledge of machines. That metal "moo juice dispenser" does go on a rampage once in a while. If your pennies don't go down, just right, he'll spit part of them out and make you start over. If you don't learn your lesson, he's liable to keep it all—money and milk. Cows aren't even that temperamental!

HEY, BIG MOUTH!

The LHS pep session held Friday was the best one many can remember. Competition between boys and girls made it quite interesting to find out who had the biggest mouths.

After a humorous but truthful portrayal of the LHS student body by the Student Council, the competition started. Senior, Tom Pressley and Dan Duncan took control of the boys' section. A very 'inspiring' cheer was introduced and went over big. (!) (?)

The turnout for the Hanover game showed what a great student body we do have. The combined pep blocks looked like it was tourney time. Cheerleaders urge such representation at each game. They ask everyone to wear white shirts and to sit in the yelling section especially at home games.

Ever think about how the spirit might have helped our players to do just a little bit better?

Know thy fellow Student!

Dear Gregg,

I am a pretty fair looking sophomore girl but I have to wear glasses to read. Is it true that boys never make passes at girls who wear glasses?

Dear Disturbed,

Whether boys make passes at girls who wear glasses, Depends quite a lot on the shape of the chassis.

Circulation Staff and Photographers Aid in Publications

THE PHOTOGRAPHERS were indispensable as far as the completion of both the LOWELLIAN and the LOWELLETT. Many times disagreements hindered the production of pictures, but as you can now see, we made it. It is often said pictures make a year-book. Our school photographers hold a big responsibility to all of the students at LHS. This responsibility was largely placed on this year photography head, Bob Connors. In the picture are Dave Rowley, Bob Connors, Rich Walters, Bud Hall, and Craig Pilcher. Two other rookies not present when the picture was taken are Tim Curless, and Mike Fetsch deserve equal credit for many of the pictures that appear in the LOWELLETT AND THE LOWELLIAN.

Third Annual Scribblings Published

1967 EDITOR of Scribblings, Aleda Hale, pauses for a moment from her many duties to smile at the Lowellian cameraman. Aleda's job is not as easy as it may seem. Scribblings is like a miniature yearbook, without any pictures. Each submitted article must be approved and read many times.

Scribblings is the name of one of Lowell High's publications. However, to get your writings in Scribblings you do not have to be on the staff. Throughout the year English teachers save their most creative themes, in hopes they might make the Scribblings' presses. These themes are written by all types of LHSers. The themes are then submitted to the Scribblings committee, which is headed by Mrs. Hazel Nichols, and they are rated on technique, style, creativity, and just general appeal. The best ones are then selected to appear in Scribblings.

This is the third year for Scribblings at LHS. The publication was started by Mrs. Betty Shafer three years ago. Students and faculty alike have enjoyed the amusing, sarcastic, and sometimes sad articles that have appeared in the publication in past years. The 1967 issue of Scribblings followed the precedent of years before and was enjoyable as well as informative.

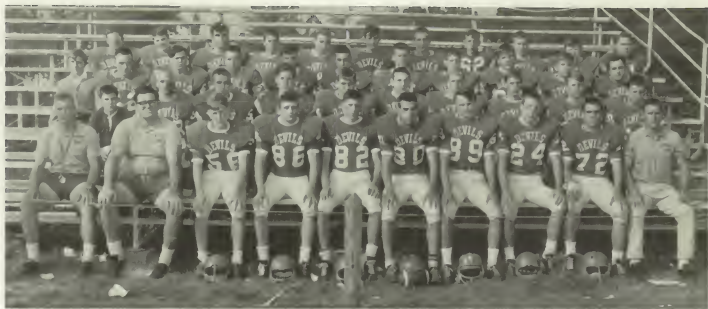

Key to . . .

ATHLETICS

The key to athletics can be found through participation and the building of sportsmanship, team cooperation and the necessary skills. The whole body is developed through participation in various sports. Through constant exercise, the body is developed. Through discipline and quick thinking the mind is developed. Through practicing team cooperation and the ethics of sportsmanship a boy can find the key to a better character. Through association and companionship with other members of the team a boy becomes to feel a moving part of the ever-moving wheels of the team.

Desire to give all your heart to the game and expect nothing in return is the key which opens the doors to a promising career in athletics.

"Rebuilding" Constitutes Grid Season

DURING THE LAKE CENTRAL game Dr. Smith and Assistant Coach Lemond examine injured player's leg. Unfortunately numerous injuries throughout the season disrupted the Devils' strength and momentum.

The 1966 Lowell Red Devils hit the gridiron with a brand new coaching staff headed by coach Les Klein and assistants Bill Wornhoff, handling the backfield, and Len Siatta and Mike Lemond working with the lineman. With the new blood on the coaching staff and team composed of youth and desire great hopes for the year were held in September.

"This will be a year of building, a year of fundamentals and preparation; this will be a year which cannot actually be judged a success or failure until the following two seasons." These words might have been spoken by any follower of the Fighting Red Devils of '66. The Fates, however, chose to make the building and the education of future Red Devils a difficult and painful process. Early in the season junior quarterback Don Van Deursen was severely injured, and this left a most difficult task up to reserve back Tom Lump. Needless to say, Tom did a fine job, even on such short notice.

Most Valuable Back, Dan Duncan and Most Valuable Lineman, Tom Pressley certainly deserve a special credit although each Devil certainly put forth his best effort and can feel pride in a job well done.

Perhaps next year's captains, Don Van Deursen and Leo Hughes, will lead the Devils to a victorious season.

Captain—TOM PRESSLEY—Halfback

"Alright men, let's go out and run a couple miles! Well, now that you're all warmed up, let's really do some running!" Who can this sadist be? This cruel gent is none other than Cross-Country coach Jack Ford, and his harriers all volunteer for this kind of treatment.

A Cross-Country man has to be able to run for long distances without tiring and must retain an extra lung-full of wind for a strong finish. The only effective way to develop the stamina is practice, practice and more practice. Hence, if you're the type of guy who runs around, perhaps you ought to see Coach Ford; maybe he can put you to work! The squad is young and largely unseasoned, perhaps there's a four-minute-miler in the bunch. Let me see if I run two miles after lunch, and . . .

Closely akin to the Cross-Country team is Coach Klein's Track squad. Assisted by Coach Bill Wornhoff, the Track team has found success in its young men. Can those running Frosh relayers catch and (Heaven forbid) pass the senior runners? We wonder, they really move!

9—12 Season

The "dream team" every coach might choose—a team which could contain any greats from the time the game began—could conceivably be defeated by a group of five men. The factor necessary is, of course, team co-operation; a team functioning as a unit always has the edge over any group of stars.

"These boys learned to work together; they learned to work as a team. Every man learned his job and we didn't need any individual stars. The success we had in the latter half of the season speaks for itself." So spoke Lowell High School's new varsity basketball coach Jack Ford, and evidently he knows what he's talking about. Coach Ford stressed team-work and co-operation, and, after getting used to one another and to the Ford brand of basketball, a solid operating unit emerged.

If success is to be judged by the defeat of arch-rival Crown Point, then the 1966-67 Red Devils were a booming success! Led by captain and high scorer Dennis Shipley, the LHS cagers also achieved individual honors for several team members. Shipley was named to All-Conference honors and team mates Glen Llewellyn and Alan Frazier received runner-up positions on the conference "perfect" team. The gallant fight the Devils put up in the Crown Point Sectional also netted Shipley All Sectional accolades.

What about next year? Coach Ford smiled when asked this, and names like Roberts, VanDeursen, Schoon, McLellan, and Padgett entered the conversation—and then? Just more smiles.

Well if one year's any indication, it looks like Lowell is FORD COUNTRY for sure!

The nineteen sixty-six edition of the Red Devil cagers, junior varsity variety, certainly had plenty of shocks on hand for any all opponents. With new coach Bill Weiland in charge, a brand of hustling demanding basketball was in evidence.

When asked to comment on his team, Coach Weiland stated, "These boys had the hustle, drive, and winning attitude necessary to get the job done." If asked to choose which of these had to be present to make a winning team, any coach or savant of the art of roundball would be hard pressed to choose. When a coach can inspire his men with all three, he's sitting on a winning combination. One can easily see that our boy's record speaks for itself.

Every new freshman who first enters the portals of high school is soon made evident of the many changes he must adjust to. For a grade school basketball player it's no different—and it certainly is no easier!

Coach Armand Reyes must be more than a coach, more than a developer of talent. A freshman coach must be a teacher of basketball fundamentals—dribble up and down the court! All right, go in and lay it up! Practice that pass again till you get it right! These phrases must ring in the ear of anybody who ever played on a frosh team.

The freshman squad finished with an outstanding 18-4 overall record. This is perhaps the best freshman team Lowell has produced. In the words of Coach of Reyes, "If these boys continue to improve as they have been doing, the future of Lowell High School basketball is very promising." He also added, "These boys have much ability, but there is still much more they can learn." Coach Reyes indicated that they need to do some "stretching" exercises, because they are lacking in height. Keep up the good work boys!

Yield Promising 7—5 Seasonal Record

154 LBS.—Ken Bluett, Jr., 5 wins, 4 losses, 2 ties.

The 1966-67 wrestling season was an "adjusting" and "rebuilding" year for the Red Devil grapplers. Varsity Coach Len Siatta with the help of Reserve Coach Bill Wornhoff (both first year wrestling coaches) was able to uphold the winning tradition of the LHS wrestling team. The season record of 7 wins and 5 losses proved the strong effort put forth by the coaches and the team. The Devils again defeated their rival, Crown Point, with a score of 27—19.

The outlook for next season is very promising with the loss of only three members of the varsity squad, Rick Watson, Don Nichols, and Marion Hoffman. Rick has compiled four winning seasons at LHS. He has had two sectional firsts, two regional thirds, a conference second, and a conference third. Don, with an outstanding 11—1 effort this season and also the team captain, has had two sectional seconds, a conference third, and a conference fourth. Marion, who managed an undefeated season of 12 wins and 0 losses, has chalked up three sectional firsts, two regional thirds, a regional fourth, and two conference seconds. In two seasons Don has posted a 19—6—1 record. Rick has a 38—10—1 record for four seasons. After three seasons Marion has had 36 wins and 2 losses.

The Red Devil grapplers will have much experience to their advantage next year. Randy Zakula, the new team captain, had a 9—1 record this season, and he will have a fine team backing him next year.

165 LBS.—John Ruge, Jr., 2 wins, 10 losses, 2 ties.

180 LBS.—Leo Hughes, Jr., 6 wins, 5 losses, 2nd. in Sectionals, 1st in Conference.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Dominic Pancini, Fr., 1 win and 9 losses.

Red Devil Golfers Overcome Weather Swing Hard and Putt 'em In

How many times have you heard that golf is an old man's game? Have any of you ever felt that it's a game for tired executives only? How can smacking a little white ball all over a field hold the attention of a young athlete? If one were to ask the young gentlemen in the picture we're sure you'd get those misconceptions straight.

Golf is a game which can be begun at any stage of life, if begun early it can, unlike many other sports, be enjoyed well into life. One need not give up the sport after the teen years are over as is in the case with so many sports we enjoy in high school. Hence the young men who trudge around South Shore Country Club's course every available evening are investing in a lifetime's enjoyment.

"The temperature will be in the lower forties; rain is expected for the Northern region of Indiana. We are expecting a gradual clearing to occur next month . . . maybe!" This seemed like the daily weather report to the members of the Red Devil golf team. All that can be said is that we all suffered along with you. The season is brief normally and the weather didn't help a bit, but the stick-men did a fine job and the youth of the squad tells us that if the snow ever lifts the pars and birdies will prevail for some time.

and Chalk Up Numerous Victories

Lowell fielded a strong nine this year as in previous years. The team possessed a well balanced line-up with a strong hitting attack. Roms during the season included a 13—1 fiasco over Edison. The moundsmen did an equally satisfying job, pitching their way to a mid season 4—2—1 won-lost-tie record.

The Devils under the able direction of new head coach Wieand and assistant coach Lemond played confident, head-up baseball. Led by Senior lettermen Alan Frazier, Dennis Perzo, Dan Duncan, Chris Hall and Bob Smith the Devils had the results which come from previous years of rebuilding and practice.

The future looks bright for the Devils. Many lettermen this year will return to plague the Calumet Conference. The trend of a winning attitude is beginning to set in at Lowell. This new enthusiasm will make itself apparent in the standings for the future as it did this year.

Key to . . . SENIORS

The key to seniors lies in the experience they have acquired through their four years at LHS. Four years ago when they entered these hallowed halls, little did they realize all the happiness, joy, and wisdom high school life would bring. They were looking for the key to success and when the four years were passed they were sure they had accomplished their goal. They gained the key to LHS and unlocked the door to their future.

Senior Pins and Sporting Senior Cords

THREE AMBITIOUS SENIOR GIRLS, Karen Reeves, Nancy Russel, and Melanie Mlynarczyk serve refreshments at Big Sister Little Sister Party.

POSING FOR THE SENIOR spot camera are these energetic seniors, Marion Hoffman surrounded by the charming Miss Chris Tarne and Student Council President, Peggy Govert.

PEGGY GOVERT, as a representative of the Senior class says a few words at Big Sis Little Sis hullabaloo.

REFEREES Lemond and Smith beg for a cool refresher from the MIGHTY SENIORS at the Will-be, Has-been game. The HAS-BENZ were victorious.

SENIOR AL FRALEY has hidden talents!

Seniors Caught in the

CHUCK BECKMAN and Bob Ziegler seem to be lost in thought.

SENIORS ARE THE GREATEST! Get the point?

"POLLOCK" KWIATKOWSKI PROUDLY displays his locker room trophy of a foil-wrapped link of polish sausage topped with a star.

EVERYONE WAITS ON SENIORS. Karen Craft takes advantage of this fact at Big Sis Lil Sis Party.

HIGHLIGHTING the month of November for several seniors was the Jr. Miss Pageant. It is held annually at the Oak Hill Gymnasium and is sponsored by the jaycees.

Many Worlds of L.H.S.

SENIORS have a knack for almost everything. Becky Dahl and Joyce Stuppy are prime examples, displaying their talents in this skit.

BOXED-UP Indian maiden, Sandy Carlson pecks out of a coffin made especially for the winning choir float in the Homecoming parade. Sandy just hitched a free ride to the bonfire held after the parade.

SENIORS are talented and Joyce Stuppy is no exception.

SENIORS ARE ARTISTIC! Carolyn Saberniak, Lynn Scheidt, Joyce Stuppy, Rick Laumeyer, Larry Rubarts, and Flora Travis prepare a paper-mache Indian for his death by fire at the annual pre-game bonfire at Homecoming.

SENIORS NEVER QUIT SMILING! Steve is a senior.

CONCERT and State Champion pianist, Jim Rudzinski performed a number of classical selections at the FFA banquet.

HAS-Beener, Glenn Llewelyn jumps high to recover the ball at the HAZ-BENZ-WILL-BE game.

RECIPIENT OF THE OUTSTANDING rebounding award, Alan Frazier demonstrates his winning style.

HAZ BENZ CHEERLEADERS boosted the SENIORS on to a victory over the will bees.

THE EXCHANGING OF RINGS is a tradition of all couples at LHS.

PREPARING for the future are these three intellectual bricklayers.

BIG SISTERS pass out milk bottle name cards at Big Sis-Little Sis party.

Would You Believe . . .

1967 MAY COURT: BACK ROW: Sue Steuer, Julie Seramur, Chris Tarne, Peg Steuer, and Shirley Castner. Seated at the table are Carolyn Flatt and Carol Huseman.

OFTEN NOON HOUR is spent cramming for a last minute test.

THREE INTELLECTUAL SENIORS; Drew Brumbaugh, Henry Lain, and Dawn Keithley pose for LOWELLETTE Senior Spot camera.

A TYPICAL SIDELINE view from the HAZ-BEEN-WILL-BE game.

More Seniors?

THE BIG DAY finally arrives and the auditorium is jammed packed with proud parents and friends of the members of the class of 1967.

Schooling Draws to an End for Some; Yet,

A ROW of graduates solemnly display their newly obtained attire of caps and gowns before commencing the recessional.

FOUR LONG YEARS, Valedictorian Aleda Hale, managed to get practically straight A's, which made her on top of a class of 200.

Key to . . . UNDERCLASSMEN

Biology, algebra, English, new class rings and sweaters, gym classes, summer school, driver's training . . . these offer the key which will open the doors to underclassmen at LHS. Their's is a world of confusion as Freshmen, giddiness as Sophomores, and pride at reaching the status of upperclassmen as Juniors. They develop the characteristics in these first few years of high school which will either further or hinder the course they choose for themselves in later years.

In LHS, as in any other school, Freshman are the initiates, for they are initiated to a new and different life, and Sophomores and Juniors live in an inbetween world which separates the knowledgeable upperclassmen, from the less informed underclassmen.

Underclassmen are very important to any high school. They not only make up the bulk of the student body, but also are tomorrow's seniors. For this is the thing all underclassmen look to, their Senior year at LHS and then the FUTURE.

A TYPICAL CLASSROOM scene for Freshman who take Biology, which is a required subject. Dissecting is all a part of the curriculum in this fun-filled and interesting class.

VERNON CHILDRESS explains how to use the voting machines to Linda Weaver, Allan Martin, and Marie Beckman. The student council elections were carried out in the authentic manner of a local election with the use of the county's voting machines.

Student Council Election Week

Serves Two Purposes

LEFT: Fred Dahl gives a campaign speech for the office of treasurer of Student Council. BELOW: Pete Kaspers issued a few remarks to the student body.

R.F. Choir and Vic Hyde Entertain

A GUEST MUSICIAN talks to the student body as he tunes up two of the many instruments he plays during morning convocation.

VIC HYDE, an extraordinary musician dons his fancy costume and struts around the school auditorium playing four horns.

A GUEST RIVER FOREST CHOIR brought to a convocation a scene from their musical "My Fair Lady".

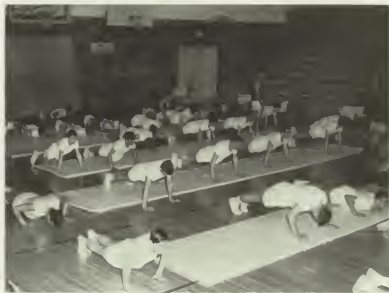

THE VISITING RIVER FOREST bell ringers choir demonstrates their remarkable talents of creating music with the use of bells.

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS: Jim Snyder, Vice President; Tom Hoffman, President; Connie Duncan, Secretary; and Patti Bales, Treasurer; congregate at a locker to discuss class business.

Boy and Girl Staters Headed for IU

Each year a few selected Junior boys and girls are delegated to participate in Girls' and Boys' State at Indiana University in Bloomington. During their stay on the scenic university campus the delegates learn the principles of the Indiana Government. They are given a chance to run for election to office and mock elections are held at the end of their stay. For one day the delegates assume the responsibility that the office entitles. This gives the staters an inside look at the political side of Indiana.

GIRL STATERS: FRONT, Clyda Sark, Alternate. BACK, Linda Weaver, Delegate; Sue Carson, Alternate; Chris Nassau, Delegate.

Great Snowstorm of '67 . . . 8 Days No School

Snow . . . Snow . . . Snow . . . '67 was the year for snow. A total fall of 26" within a three day period completely paralyzed Lowell and the surrounding area. But the school kids rejoiced for school was cancelled for eight consecutive days.

Farming suburbs and the areas around Lake Dalecarlia were days getting plowed out. There was a definite shortage of milk and bread. Drivers simply could not bring many of the products into the community. The streets of Lowell remained almost impenetrable and a vast winter wonderland stretched as far as the eye could see. At the peak of the record storm, accompanied by 40 mph winds, you simply could not see two inches in front of you.

Several houses along US 41 were forced to open their doors to stranded motorists. Mary Watson, freshman had scheduled a birthday party when the storm hit its peak. Although many of the original guests failed to show she was surprised when thirty-three unexpected guests arrived.

The great snow storm of '67 was a perfect example of the power of nature to paralyze great cities even in the atomic age.

ADVERTISING

The key to the whole yearbook lies in the next few pages, for these boosters actually supply the bulk of the income which makes the yearbook possible.

Early on Saturday mornings the two editors accompanied by Karen Reeves, Business Manager, would go selling ads and taking pictures. This year the whole ad section was done with student participation mixed with humor, in hopes to make it more interesting to the reader. Some students were a bit embarrassed at the results, but remember it's all in the game of fun.

We wish to thank all the contributors and townfolk for their cooperation in letting us turn the ad section upside down.

PHOTOGRAPHER, Bob Connors, accompanied by Business Manager, Karen Reeves, and Editors, Judy Yates and Pat Markel (right), spent many tedious hours on the ad section of the LOWELLIAN. Dawn Keithley, part of the circulation staff, helped by soliciting ads.

If your eyes are on far horizons following graduation, here's a suggestion from Peppy Flame and Reddy Kilowatt: Look around you right here in NIPSCOLAND!

There are vast and challenging opportunities in northern Indiana for trained young men and women in industry, commerce and agriculture. Some of the greatest challenges await the talent and imagination of young people in the investor-owned utility business.

An open book can open doors

In our recruiting we ask that applicants have completed their High School education. That's because we try always to fill higher, more responsible jobs from the ranks of our employees. And the records show—the better the employee's education, the better he is at his job—and the better he does for himself.

Inland employees continue to gain knowledge and experience in special trades through formal apprenticeship programs offered in the following trades—Machinist, Patternmaking, Bollermaking, Welding, Shop Electrician, Wireman, Mason and Pipefitter.

Many concentrate on certain phases of steelmaking by working in production while others work in laboratories helping to assure quality or developing new and better products for our customers.

How about you? Inland Steel is steadily expanding. More and more opportunities will be open to you as our growth continues. Are you ready?
